The World Leader in Simulation Training

TRIDENT's Autodynamics™ simulator products teach operations and instrumentation skills to process and power trainees around the world. An Autodynamics™ system builds confidence in new trainees and challenges your senior operators by giving them "hands-on" exposure only a simulator can provide. Autodynamics, the pioneer in process simulation, provides training, training systems, and simulation engineering services.

Since 1970, thousands of operators have been trained on more than 400 systems for 150 clients worldwide. And each year, TRIDENT's Autodynamics™ simulators save millions of dollars in training costs and plant operating expenses.

Ask TRIDENT to show you how our simulation products will meet your requirements.
